

Look for the Picture within a Picture

Description

I have been playing around with cropping lately and practicing techniques to turn mediocre pictures into great pictures.

This elephant photo in its original form is not a great composition. I was concentrating on the baby elephant hoping he would do something fun and cute and I didnt really pay attention to the very touching interaction between the large female and the juvenile elephant.

Some lighting and color correction and a crop with a vignette all completed in Lightroom gives me a very nice portrait with lots of warm fuzzy motherly vib.

Donâ€™t disregard a photo before examining it closely for details and emotions you did not know were in there.

Category

1. Creating Photo Stories
2. Photography on Safari

Tags

1. Photo safari in South Africa

Date Created

2011/10/07

default watermark